Gear: Ropes: 1x60m/ 1x50m (2x50)
Summary: (machine translated) Short vertical south-west facing canyon with mostly very little water (often a short neoprene is enough); some belays are exposed but in very good condition (Pro Canyon); intermediate belay at the highest rappel point; the middle section is the most beautiful and challenging part; sand colored limestone, mostly grippy.
Hydrology: Weniger Wasser, am Besten nach Regen begehen.
Access: (machine translated) Coming from Bolzano, take the main road in the direction of Merano. Directly before the sign "Klaus" (still before the inn Oberspeiser) a small asphalted road branches off to the right, which leads to 2 houses. At the exit of the street where the house with the No. 25 stands, one has before the ruin a small parking possibility. If you have a 2nd car, continue from P1 at "Klaus" in the direction of Merano. Still before the beautiful church of Terlan goes right a mountain road direction Mölten. After the 4th serpentine curve or after the tunnel, there is a fork on the right. The narrow asphalt road quickly gains altitude. At the beginning one keeps. After a small bridge you then turn right to Maor Hof, where you park the car after friendly questions (approx. 580Hm).
Approach: (machine translated) without Schutteln about 1h, with 2nd car about 10min. On foot: From house no. 25 you follow the initially well-marked hiking trail in the direction of "Montigl" up (large no-driving sign). After a few steep meters and a beautiful view of the mountain and the valley, you reach a forest road, which you follow only briefly before the path branches off to the right into the forest again (hiking trail marking on the stone). Following the dilapidated and partly overgrown hiking trail, you reach a vineyard with fencing, which already belongs to the Moar farm, keeping slightly to the left over the ridge of the whale. A gate with the hiking mark shows the way to the Maor farm (at about 580Hm). Behind the farm you follow the path no. 10 down towards "Siebeneich". Cross the stream and walk to the dam wall (with iron steps). Below the dam wall at approx. 550Hm is the entry. Before the tour you can check the water level near P1. To do this, go right to the creek (exit) at the no-driving sign.
Tour: (machine translated) The tour starts with some downclimb and short rappels. Which are not so exhilarating at first. However, the technical middle section with its magnificent view / deep view, very worthwhile. Here, several successive rappels await the experienced canyoneers (20,20, 50, 27m). The arrival pools are mostly sandy and shallow, but the water is clean. After the last approx. 27mAbseilstelle comes a large rock that re bypassed or climbed under. With last view back on the beautiful vertical part follows the not so pleasant final part. Until the exit at about 300Hm, several downclimbs and short walking sections must be overcome. A water drainage and a water tank on the right side mark the exit (approx. 330Hm).

Return: (machine translated)

From the water tank you can reach the parking lot shortly via the visible path. (Tip: If one has only 1 car, the material can be driven up to the Maor farm by car first. Then drive to the parking exit and walk up via the hiking trail. Include drinking for ascent).

Water level very high after several days of rain, really fun! Apart from a little water pressure when rappelling, there is never any danger of water due to the shallow pools. Stands in good condition. As already described, the first one is not easy to reach, we rappelled from the tree. (machine translated)

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Margherita Belle découverte que ce Rio Margherita en ce premier jour de Raduno 2024...La marche d'approche d'une grosse heure et 320m de D+ permet de « monter en température...Le débit ce jour était normal pour un canyon A1 ça passait crème dans le haut de la combinaison vu qu'on est jamais immergé...Les 8 rappels s'enchaînent sans temps morts, le passage de la C60 est très beau...Après le dernier rappel descendre dans le lit du ruisseau jusqu'à croiser une citerne peinte en vert en rive droite + cairn...Marche retour 12/15' si on est stationné au niveau de l'usine UNiFIX. Parking spaces need to be reworked. The road to the upper parking lot is currently closed. One parking space could still need a rope traverse. Alternatively, you can get off the tree to get to the stand. (machine translated)

Beginning and end not so nice, but the middle is great. No pools, unfortunately brown water, easy to walk. (machine translated)
