The day after Bares comes this other very watery canyon; you need to be fairly comfortable with high water levels, even though you can avoid the water in many spots... The final section is quite narrow and also very scenic, with several swirling pools... It’s a bit uneven upstream, but it’s still a beautiful stream! (machine translated)

We descended this beautiful canyon. Fair anchorages, often shoveled on one spot. Challenging aquatically but with water below usual level. Pools however swirling. (machine translated)
