Gear:

Summary: (machine translated)
Impressive Gollizno narrows, best in spring after rains to ensure flow. In summer completely dry

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
Leaving Villalba de la Sierra by the CU-V-9114 we arrive at the village of Portilla. We cross through the center of the village and as soon as we leave, we cross a stone bridge. We take the road that goes to the right (not necessary 4×4), at the next crossroads we turn left, the most marked road, and we arrive at an esplanade in front of some livestock buildings. Here we leave the car.

Approach: (machine translated)
We climb the ravine by a well-marked path that starts in front that indicates narrow gollizno, for about 35 minutes, crossing the stream several times, until you reach a small meadow, marked with a milestone and with some slides behind, here we get into the water, a few meters down is the first rappel.

Tour: (machine translated)
Short but beautiful canyon, with water after rains, it has 7 rappels, none with more than 12m. Headers somewhat exposed but installation in good condition. It has a very boxed final zone without escape.

Return: (machine translated)
After the last rappel we take the path we climbed up.

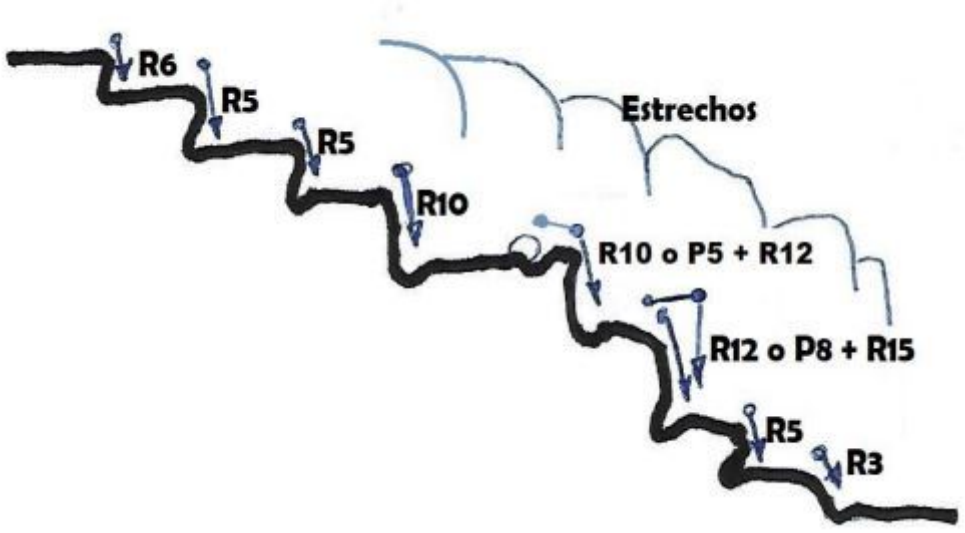

Coordinates:
Canyon Start 40.3002 -2.0783
