Summary: (machine translated)
First aquatic rappel canyon "from one cast" in basalt, then run before the 100m step into Bras Rouge

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
In Cilaos, in the Cirque (basin) of the same name, we park our car for the exit where the connecting path from the hamlet of Ilet à Cördes comes up from the Bras Rouge valley.
From Cilaos, we then take the 2nd Autödie D 242 via Ilet Dijoux and continue in the direction of Ilet à Cordes. After 4.1 km we cross the Bras Rouges and after about 7 km (from Cilaos/junction D241/D242) we come to the bridge over the Fleurs Jaunes. Park your car here.

Approach: (machine translated)
From the bridge we walk about 350 m in open terrain, orienting ourselves to the left along the stream to the first abseiling point.

Tour: (machine translated)
This is followed by 7 to 9 rappels (depending on any breaks). You can sometimes cut the ropes so that you slide out of the rope from a certain height and fall into the pool below. The highlight are the 2 longer chutes at the exit of the tour described here, starting with the C55, which can now also be broken. After the 3 successive rappels mentioned above (55 m, 35 m, 20 m), we climb down a few more meters over boulders.
During the descent, views of the impressive scenic landscape constantly open up.
Then there is a possible exit up a steep chute ('Jacomedie') to the rocks of Marmailles and from here over a ridge up to the viewpoint on the road. From here, follow the road in a westerly direction back to the car.
The integral ascent takes us about 850m or 1 hour down the left bank of the stream to the "dalles", which are pools of a larger and almost flat granite surface before reaching the Bras Rouge. The route now descends almost vertically for around 100 meters.
Once at the bottom, the gloomy "Chapelle" awaits us at the exit of the tour.
Alternatively, you can rappel directly into the chapel through the split block, but then you need at least 1x100m ropes + 1x60m + 1x40m, see topographic view.

Return: (machine translated)
From the "Chapelle" a few hundred meters downstream, then we take the footpath up to the left. An intermediate descent of almost 100 meters of altitude brings us down to the footpath of Ilet à Cordes. On this up to the road in Cilaos, where our car is.
