Summary: (machine translated)
Rappel canyon below a water drainage.

Hydrology:

Access: (machine translated)
From Dommodossola northwards to Crodo and from there on towards Baceno. After about 17 km, shortly before reaching Baceno, just before the road bridge over the again untamed Devero (view from the bridge is worthwhile), turn left to Uresso. About 100m before Uresso (on the left) park the car.

Approach: (machine translated)
From Uresso along the river uphill towards Croveo, then cross over a bridge to the other (orographic left) bank. Continue up the stream to the dam (with house) and then in hairpin bends up to the Baceno-Croveo road. Turn left again at the Croveo village sign by a chapel/icon. You come to a path that comes from a bridge over the Devero (from the left). Follow this to the right and after a few minutes you will reach the entry point at the first abseil (C3) - about 25 minutes in total. If it is too aquatic here, you can follow the course of the stream on the bank and after approx. 100 m on the orographic right you come to the water drainage and thus the drier part of the descent.

Tour: (machine translated)
First swim canyon to the water drainage. Enter the vertical parts from the right. At this rappel (C15) - sling on the tree 10 m above the edge (2006) - rope retrival difficult, so make it from the ledge 3 m above the pool (also a small possible jumps). The rope retrival on the next (15m) rappel is just as difficult. At the next but one possible jumps from 12 m or 9 m height. Possible jumps are also possible in the wide streambed.

Return: (machine translated)
After the narrowing with the 3 higher rappels, exit at the latest (after approx. 150 m) at the following dam wall on the left, then descend on the ascent path to the bridge. Get back on here to take the 3 following jumps. After the last jump, exit right and through Uresso to the car in a few minutes.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Devero (partie médiane) Very aquatic and short canyon. The first obstacles need to be taken with great care. We had the same (huge) flow in the narrow part (after the water intake), as there was no water taken out. The end of the canyon is a bit open and not so special, but allows several high jumps (after checking). Very good and new equipment. Everything ok so far. Somewhat wild entry at the water level. Another anchor would make entry easier. We parked at the stonemason's, where we asked beforehand. Walked the stream to the end. A couple of jumps are still waiting. (machine translated)
