Parallel to Archífira, it is much shorter and more accessible, in addition it has longer verticals and fewer climbs between them, although it is also quite dressed. Generally dry, if we catch it after rains it will gain a lot.
The bank belongs to the Natural Monument of the Barranco de Fasnia and Güimar, you have to ask for permission in the Cabildo.

Evident, you just have to go down to the riverbed.

Long routes between rappels and many areas of chaos or vegetation that will slow us down.
