Resumen: (traducción alternativa)
Slate gorge with a few nice single pitches, but not very continuous. If only the upper part is done, it can perhaps be considered as a day tour, but even then still very time-consuming.

Hidrología: (traducción alternativa)
Not much at first, from the right confluence onwards it is stronger, but you can still rappel in the stream at depth.

Acceso: (traducción alternativa)
The mountain road is finished at around 1600m, where you park and continue on foot.

Acceso: (traducción alternativa)
You walk up to 2600m and then down along the stream. Probably about 4 hours to the first rappel.

Recorrido: (traducción alternativa)
Fewer walking passages at first, but the longer it goes, the more distance there is between the good parts.

Regreso: (traducción alternativa)
Either down into the valley to the larger river at 900m, or at 1300m or so fight your way up through the forest back to the car.

Really cold creek, if we had wanted to jump, the experience would certainly have been better, but not really in this cold. Too much effort for the creek, especially in view of the fact that there is really nothing developed nearby and we also drove 2 times 5 hours by car in addition to the 2.5 days in the forest and canyon...
