Resumen: (traducción alternativa) Extremely short but narrow gorge directly below the road. Can be combined with the first gorge of the Arzinos. Usually no water flow but pools filled with clear water.
Hidrología: (traducción alternativa) Water seeps away above the gorge and emerges from springs at the gorge exit
Acceso: (traducción alternativa) Take the Strada Provinciale SP1 through the Arzino valley to the bridge over the Rio del Lat, turn off in the direction of Zopiet and park immediately on the left.
Acceso: (traducción alternativa) At the orographic left canyon rim descend a few meters into the mostly dry streambed.
Recorrido: (traducción alternativa) The gorge immediately constricts. After some downclimbing there is a 2.5m rappel from anchor right (downclimbable), then a beautiful gorge with a few hip-deep pools. From the last pool, rappel 8m from the anchor on the right and climb around the last large blocks. If you want to extend the tour a little, you can add the first gorge of the Arzino. Descend through the riverbed of the Arzino until the stream ditches into the rock, in the gorge some small steps (WW III-IV), first explore from the road. Exit at the beach below, the second Arzino gorge is much narrower and reserved for kayakers.

2026-03-29   MirkoT   ★★   📖★★★★   🚧★   🌊 Seco   🍏 Completado Clear pools, but full of leaves despite today (29/03/2026) being Spring. Very white rock and top environment, despite the shortness. First limb without quick link, but usable without problems. Photo 1: meander halfway down. Photo 2: corridor after the first rappel Photo 3: last swim (traducción alternativa)
2026-03-07   GeorgB   ★   📖★★★★   🚧★★   🌊 Seco   🍏 Completado Super short but somehow nice appetizer. Made after the Rio Sclusons and before the Rio Agaviva (traducción alternativa)
