Résumé: (traduction alternative)

R5, R7, R20, R5, R5, R4, R8, R22, R30 and finally a very nice R25; there is a small cave to visit on the left. The rest of the route is uninteresting; it is better to take a shortcut through the forest to the track.

Hydrologie: (traduction alternative)

Best in spring or fall. Dry in summer.

A beautiful canyon when water is flowing. Best explored after rainfall.

Accès: (traduction alternative)

Arrive at the small bridge (as at the start in Trasito inferiore) on the way to Revilla. Continue towards Tella and at the entrance to the village turn left onto the path at the height of the dolmen and opposite the water reservoir. Follow the path to the barrier.

Approche: (traduction alternative)

Follow the path for about 20 minutes and leave it at a hairpin bend, taking the path on the left (altitude 1425 m, 400 m before the path to Cueva del Oso). Head west to a water intake (small building) and continue west, staying level with the building. The starting point is 50 m deeper in the canyon.

Tour: (traduction alternative)

R5, R7, R20, R5, R5, R4, R8, R22, R30 and finally the very beautiful R25; there is a small cave to visit on the left. The rest of the route is uninteresting; it is better to take a shortcut through the forest to the track.

Hardly cut in.

Retour: (traduction alternative)

Leave the forest after the last large waterfall.

Leave the shuttle bus: after the last waterfall, turn right on the left bank of the river towards the cave, the path is clearly visible. At first it leads along the slope, then more downhill. At a clear junction with a view of the sheepfold, take the left-hand path and shortly afterwards the slightly sloping path (easily recognizable). This path runs along the slope, climbs slightly and meets up with the outward route (25 min.).
