Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Interesting canyon from the technical point of view, with access to somewhat exposed and very slippery headwaters. After rains much better to ensure a good flow.

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)
It is necessary to be located in the concello of Covelo.
By the A52 to take the N120 and from there by the PO-255, or by the EP-5101 to Covelo and from there the PO-261 to Maceira. In both options we approach O Piñeiro da Igrexa from the south.
About 400m before we find the cemetery on the left, here we can park.

Approche: (traduction alternative)
Just in front of the cemetery there is a small road and a track to the right of our road. We take the track heading north. After about 600m there is a track on the left (return track) and we continue along the main one, straight on, towards the reservoir of Pozo Piñeiro. Another 500m later we have a track in disuse and almost lost by our left, we take it and we will continue, more and more losing until finishing about 100m below the dam. Time to get into the river.

Tour: (traduction alternative)
Technical descent with complicated accesses, slippery areas and difficult jumps.

Retour: (traduction alternative)
After the last rappel we have two possibilities, in the first stream on the left, without losing height we go through the forest to find a track. The other option is after the second stream go left and go up the slope, on the orographic left of the stream and we will quickly find a path and from there to the track.
In both cases we go to the indicated track that leads us to our access track.
