Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Also known by its toponymy, ravine of the riu Baiau. Incredible environment, lush, full of vegetation and water everywhere, with a comfortable and relatively fast access.
It is a technical descent, very aquatic, only suitable for people with experience since we will find movements in almost all the receptions, it will be necessary to mount diverters with high flows.
Regulated ravine (Parc Natural de l'Alt Pirineu in Lleida)

Accès: (traduction alternative)
Take the N260 to Sort; once there, turn off onto the C13 toward Llavorsi.
In Llavorsí, right at the entrance, after the bridge, turn right onto the L504 toward Alins/Ribera de Cardós/Tavascán, following the Cardós River through a wide and magnificent valley. After about 4 km, you'll come to a roundabout; continue straight ahead toward Alins/Areu on the L510 (toward Vall Ferrera).
Along this stretch of road, you'll wind your way among the high peaks, passing through the beautiful villages of Vall Ferrera, Araós, Alins, and Areu. As the mountains gradually narrow the valley—a valley that remains lush even in summer—the road gradually fades into the background until we reach Areu.
From here, we leave the road and continue along a forest trail, winding through the woods as we ascend the lush valley. We'll pass small parking lots along the entire trail, serving the many hiking routes in this area. We'll follow the trail up to nearly 1,800 meters at La Molinassa, where we'll park.

Approche: (traduction alternative)
We will leave the GR towards Ref Vallferrera and at the curve where the GR goes to Baiau, we will continue here leaving Ref Vallferrera on the left. We will go up to the Pla de Boet, place of exit of the ravine, we will cross the Clot de l'Olla and shortly after we will arrive at the Pla d'Arcalís, place where we leave the GR to go to the left to the river.

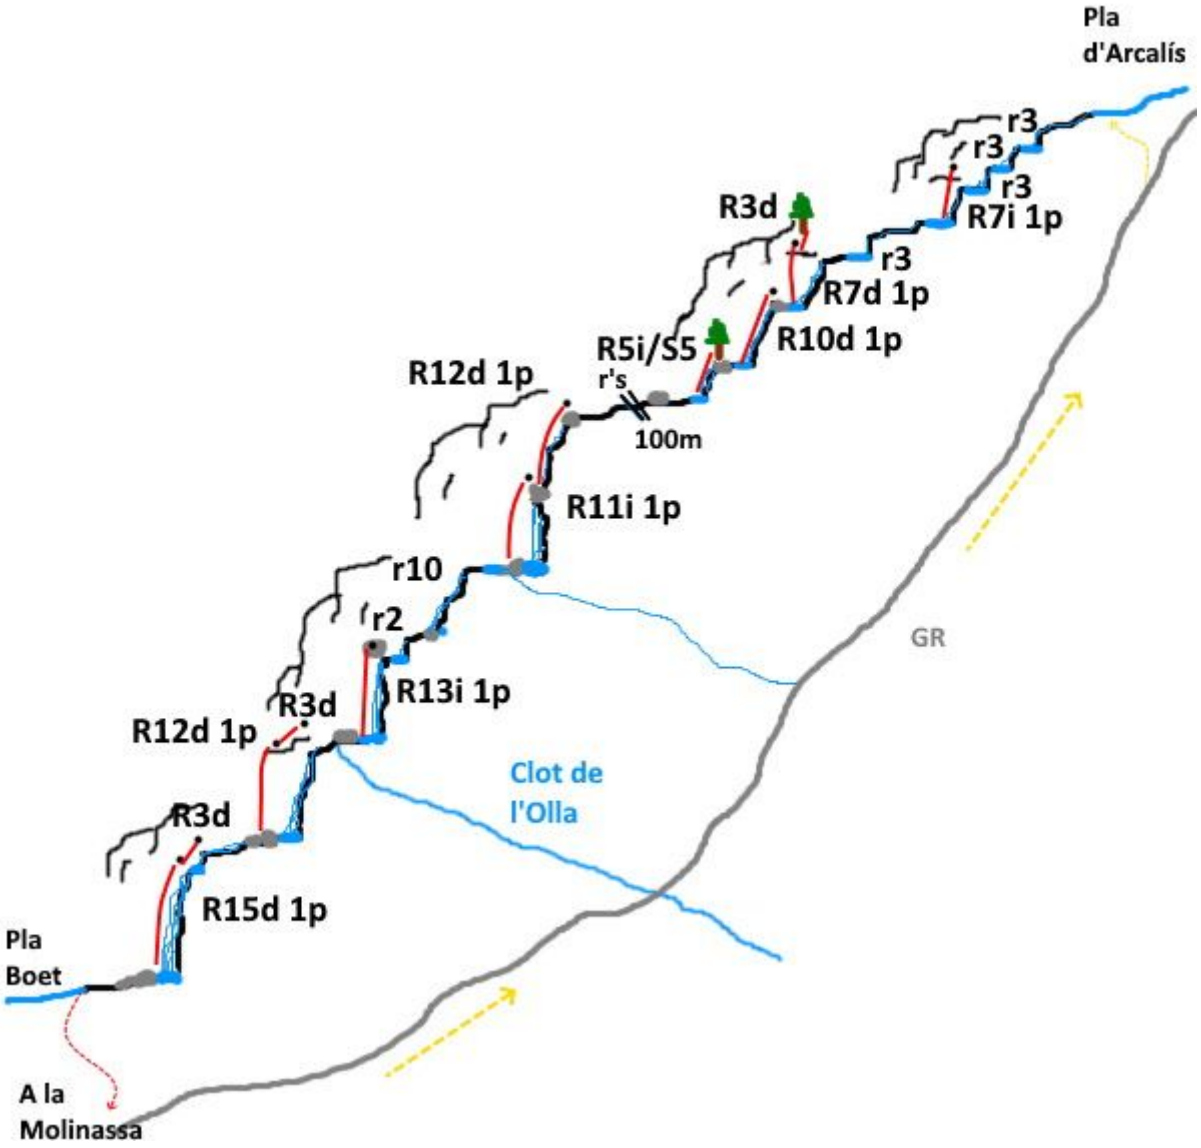

Tour: (traduction alternative)
Technical descent, with narrow areas where we will feel the force of the water. Movements in many of the receptions and delicate accesses.

Retour: (traduction alternative)
When we arrive at Pla de Boet, we will go to the left to look for the access path.
