Spécialités:

Matériel:
Cordes: 2x30m

Résumé:
Short route, but not without interest.

Hydrologie:
Pay attention to the water flow and the very slippery rock.
Hydraulic works: after the first rappel there is an old water intake dam.

Accès:
reach Pisogne and park on Via Martiri delle Foibe at the intersection with Via delle Miniere, next to the bridge over the Trobiolo, where there are some free parking spaces. Leave a car here for the return, then drive up toward the locality of Terzana. After passing the hamlet of Pressò, park on the right in a small grassy turnout, just before a water intake with a fountain on the left (2.4 km).

Approche:
Walk uphill along the road to Terzana; after about 150 m, and after a hairpin bend on the right, follow a private road (blue sign: “Pisogne loc. Giacche”) that leads to a house. Shortly before the house, go down to the right across the meadow to reach the streambed – 10 m (the owners are friendly; ask for permission).

Tour:
A series of downclimbs and a small, pleasant jumpable pool lead to the first rappel, 24 m, the highest drop, anchored on the left with a handline for the approach. To ease rope retrieval, when facing the waterfall move to the right. Shortly after the first waterfall there is a small water barrier. Immediately below are escape routes: on river right a trail leading back to the upper car; on river left a tunnel leading to trail 209 via Via Miniere.
Continuing:
2 – anchor on the left for a 4 m step
3 – anchor left for a 10 m drop
We reach the second vertical between two beautiful rock walls
4 – about 21 m, anchor left with handline
5 – anchor right to pass two small drops
Then the last major vertical, about 20 m, with anchor and handline on the left. Before the waterfall on the left, there is a possible escape route to trail 209.
From the waterfall, you can see the rock bend marking the end of the gorge. After descending, two rings allow a safe reach to the streambed (anchors 7 and 8 on the right).

Escape routes: after the first rappel and the water intake on the orographic right, take the path that climbs back to the parking area or the tunnel on the left that leads to trail 209. Before the sixth vertical rappel of about 20 m, on the orographic left, you can also reach trail 209.

Anchors: stainless steel bolts 10x100 mm.

Retour:
Follow the streambed to the wooden bridge, then right onto the mule track to Via Miniere.
Where the canyon ends, on river left about 15 m up the slope, there is the entrance to the Minico lower level of the extensive Fusio mine, where a shaft of about 50 m leads to a flooded area (very beautiful exploration).
