Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Like its neighbors in Rupit, it is a vertical canyon, a long fractional waterfall with hanging meetings, difficult rope recovery and a final abseil of 80m.
Only for experts!
Possibly forbidden canyon: https://www.rupitpruit.cat/ajuntament/normativa/normativa--ordenances-generals/ordenanca-municipal-reguladora-de-lus-public-de-lambit-de-la-riera-de-rupit.html

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)
Location Rupit
We will have to get to Rupit, once there we will cross the village towards the viewpoint of Salt, at the forks we will be attentive to follow the signs to the parking which is an esplanade next to the cut. Generally there are quite a few cars and vans/caravans spending the night.

Approche: (traduction alternative)
Access to the Rupit and Gravet ravines
We follow the track to the bed of the Rupit, we cross it and continue along the track leaving the viewpoint behind, the return path and we reach the Gravet bed. After leaving it behind, we continue along the cuttings until the next riverbed next to the rural house Can Miquel.

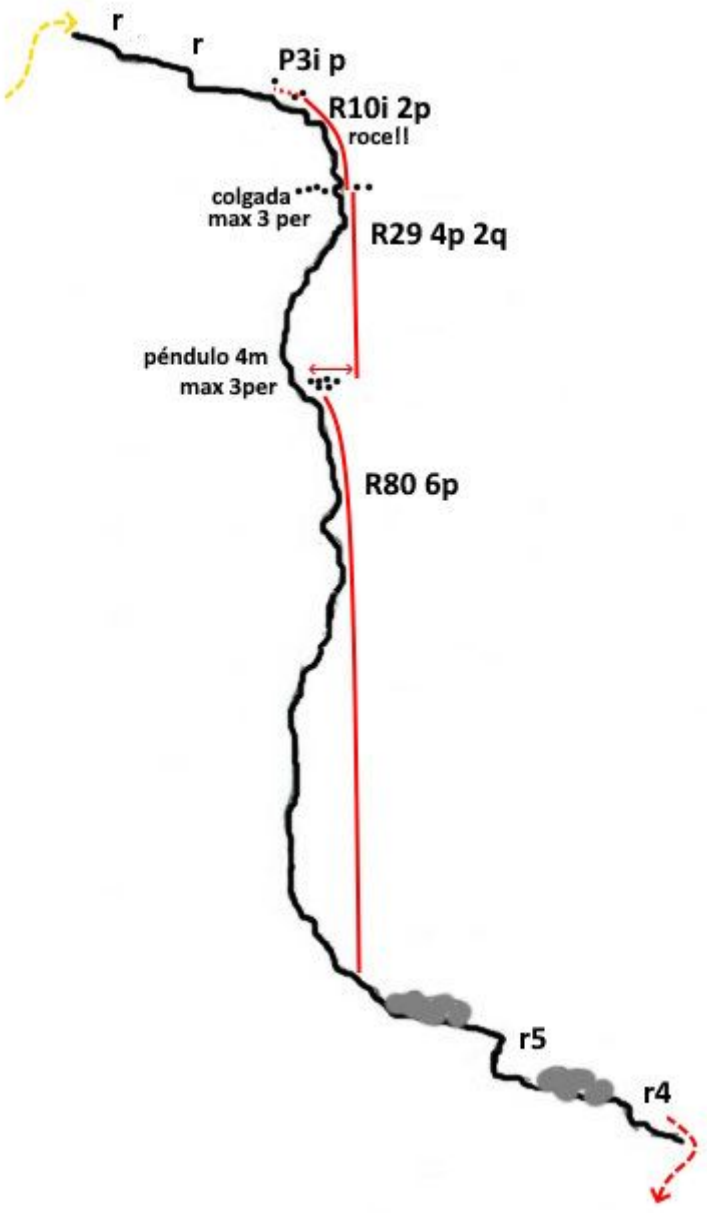

Tour: (traduction alternative)
Three rappels, each one more spectacular. The first one down to the left of 10m with problems of friction and to recover ropes. The second is an installation for 3 people with 4 parabolts and on one side 2 chemicals, there are no feet. We will do this rappel and to reach the head of the next one we will have to climb up to the wall. The last rappel is 6 parabolts on a small ledge, 80m later we reach the lower part, a couple of more ropes up to the return path.

Retour: (traduction alternative)
After the last rappel we continue down until we find a cairn that indicates a path under the cliffs. We will pass two streams and in the third one that joins with the path of the return of Rupit we go up. Then we follow the track to the car
