Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Actually quite attractive rappel canyon.

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)
Either from Brig via Visp down the Rhône, or from Martigny via Sion/Sitten up the Rhône on Route 9 to Susten/Turtmann, then switch to the orographic right bank of the Rhône and park your car at the recreation area at the canyon exit. Here you can also check the water flow and spend the night (even with a RV—currently, camping is prohibited as of 2026); see the Google aerial photos in the photo gallery for the approach.\n\nWith a second car, we then drive downstream along the Rhône via Susten to Leuk on the orographic right bank of the Rhône and continue uphill in an easterly direction (Bratsch, Erschmatt). We park the second car at the bridge over the Feschelbach (see the location on the Google aerial image in the photo gallery).

Approche: (traduction alternative)
From the bridge, we (2–3 people rappelling) climb down into the streambed following well-defined tracks.\n\nIf we only have one car, we can ascend a narrow trail on the orographic left side of the stream to the bridge (50 min.).

Tour: (traduction alternative)
Many smaller rappels, see topographic views

Retour: (traduction alternative)
Out of the canyon directly to the car.

The entry point to the right of the chapel is well equipped with fixed ropes. A canyon with a nice, deep cut and some very beautiful sections. Slides and a few jumps are also doable. (traduction alternative)

A deeply carved canyon with impressive rock formations and clear water. There were 1–2 pools you could jump into. Near the bridge, we found a few bones and car parts left over from past “cleanup operations.” The facilities are all top-notch! (traduction alternative)

Glued anker points and numbered. Top equiped! Water was perfectly clear, bit cold but always a nice canyon to do. We walked up on the orographic right side of the canyon, there is now a little track until Untere Rotafen.

The water level was low, but the water was clean, clear, and fresh. It was really fun. It was only a little slippery. The few jumps are doable, and the pools have enough depth. All the anchors are in good condition. (traduction alternative)
