Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Ravine of the Pericay mountain range, almost bordering with Almeria and near the Valdeinfierno reservoir. Open ravine, with good views and very vertical. It can throw us back its access a little loser.

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)
We will have to head towards Lorca. Once there on the N340, after passing the bridge over the wadi we turn right in search of the RM701 (Valdeinfiernos and Puente reservoirs, Sierra del Gigante-Pericay).
When we reach La Parroquia (La Fuensanta in many guidebooks) we turn right following the same sign as before (Embalses de Valdeinfiernos y Puente, Sierra del Gigante-Pericay).
After two kilometers we will see the detour to the right to Zarzilla and straight ahead towards the Valdeinfiernos Reservoir, we will continue straight ahead for almost a kilometer until we reach a track that goes off to our right.
After 3 kms the track makes a sharp turn to the left to head towards the mountains, after a kilometer and a half a turn to the right and 500m later we cross the Oscuro ravine. We have a track on the left where we get in and park.

Approche: (traduction alternative)
We follow the track and when it turns to the right we leave it to continue along a poorly defined path that follows the riverbed. At 900m of altitude we will leave the riverbed to go towards the summit that we have on the left by a "little path" with some milestone (losing zone). After arriving at the summit we will only have to go south in search of the first installation.

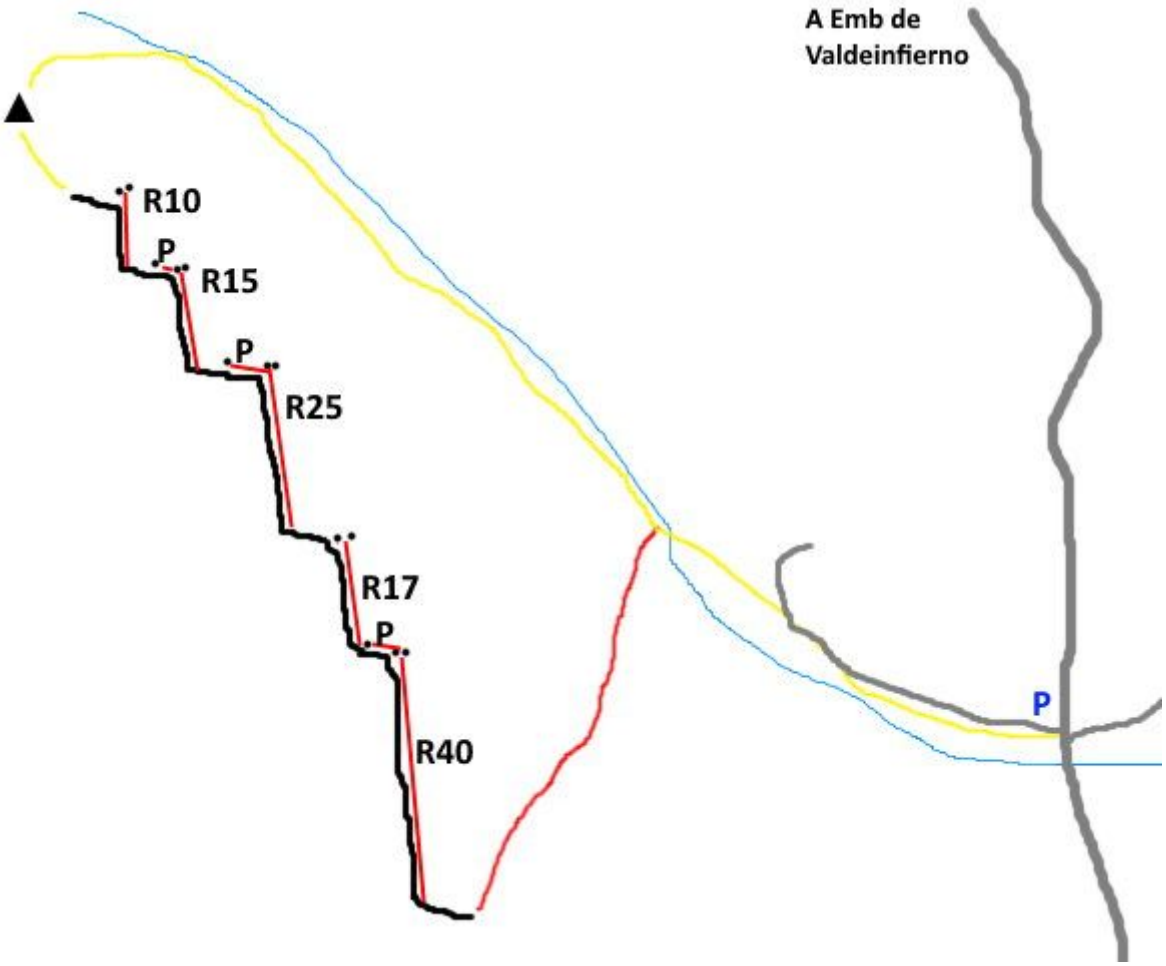

Tour: (traduction alternative)
A first rappel almost next to the summit. From here 5 rappels to reach the base of this wall.

Retour: (traduction alternative)
After R40, we go around the base of the wall to the left and head towards the riverbed and the access path.
