Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Also known as Mala Espina, it has two large verticals of up to 50m that, except after heavy rains, we will always find dry. Perfect to combine with Racons and then do Corredora or Fleix.
If we do not want to make a combination, it is best to leave on the path that leads to the PR because the interesting part will already be done.

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)
From Orba take the CV721 and CV718 to Fleix and Benimaurell (La Vall de Laguar). We will park in the village of Fleix if we want to combine with Racons and go up the Salt.
If we are going to return by the PR we can park in Benimaurell or 100m after next to the sign of the ravine.

Approche: (traduction alternative)
We will walk down the track from the sign to the start of the trail

Tour: (traduction alternative)
Two walls to descend, the first divided into 14 + 47 with the second rappel on a small ledge for 3 people. Then we have an area of undergrowth that we can avoid to the right with some climbing to reach the second wall, this time of 50m. After descending it we can escape along the path or continue with the second section of the canyon, which is more steep and has only 2 very simple rappels that will leave us in the Racons canyon.

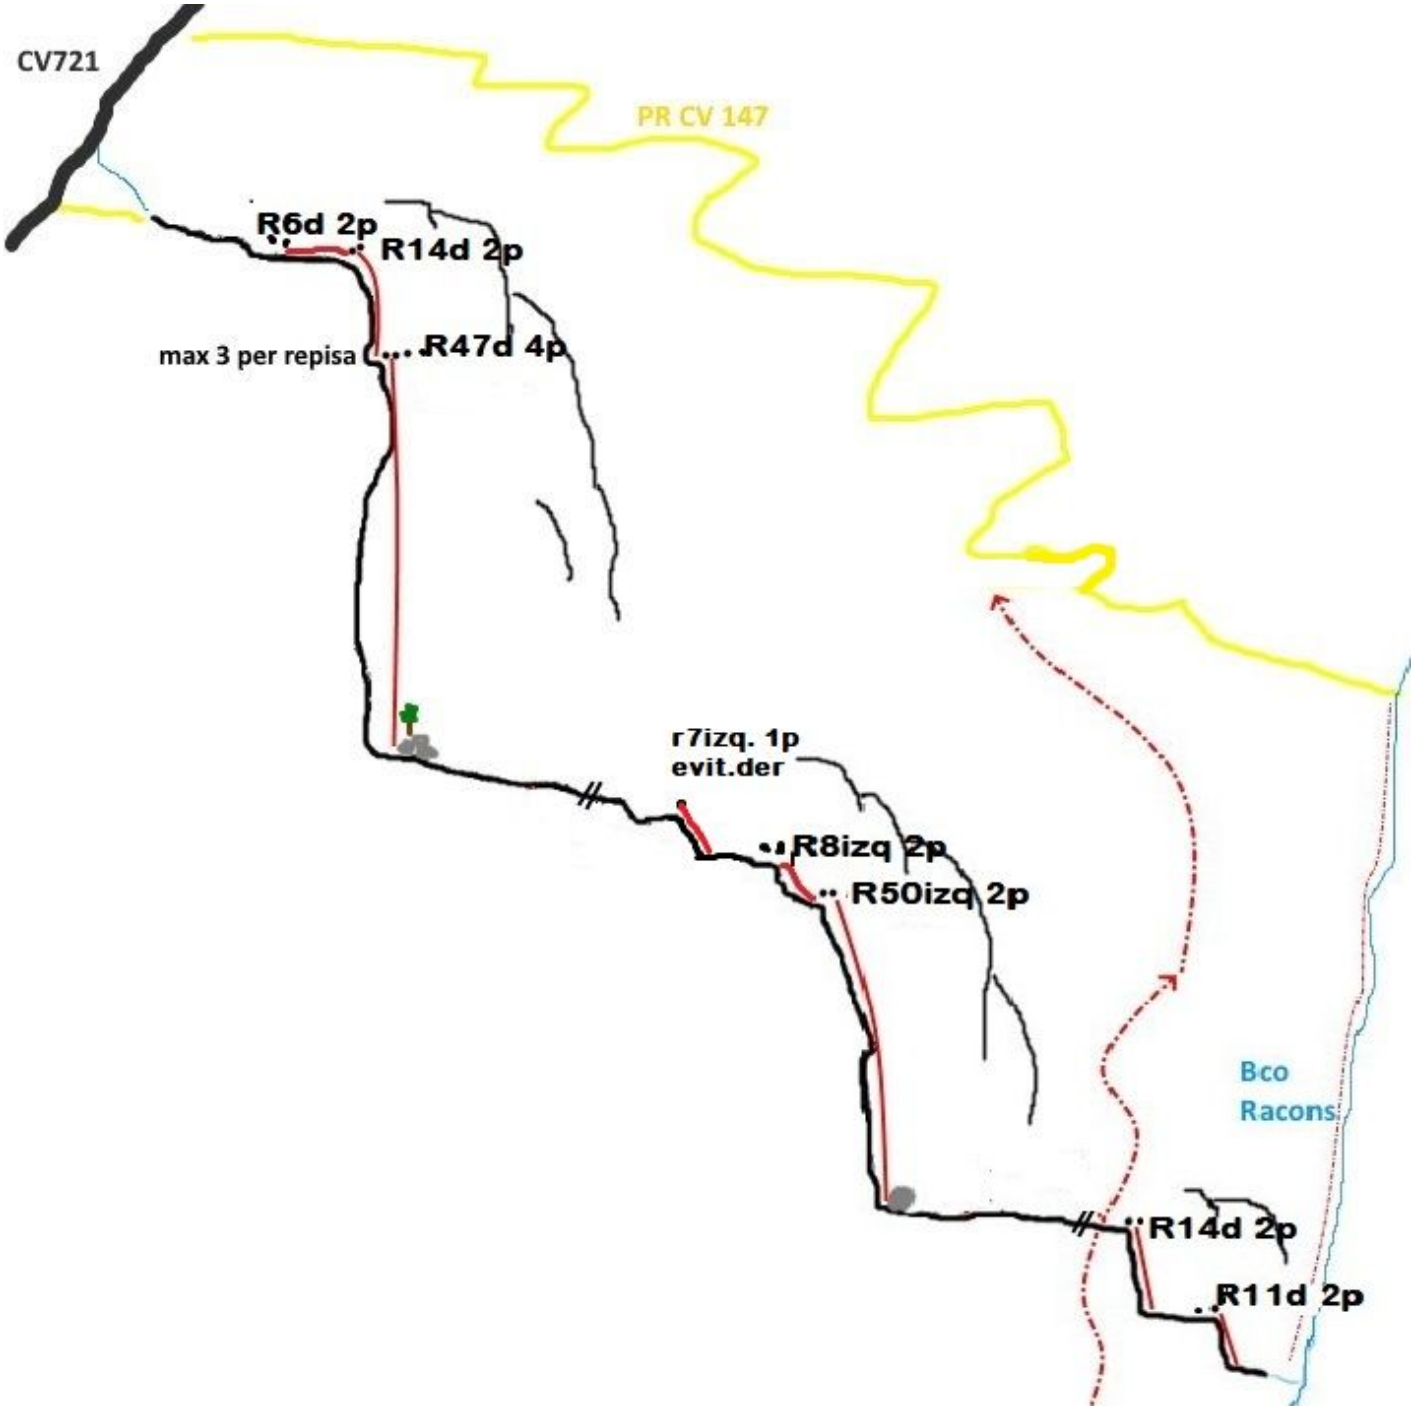

Retour: (traduction alternative)
Multiple options:
1.- Exit through the exhaust to the left along the trail, after 250m it reaches the PR CV 147, we go up it to the road and from there to the village a walk.
2.- When arriving at the Racons bank, go up to the PR CV 147, the same as before, go up to the road.
3.- Combine with Racons, at the end of it at its confluence with Infern we continue about 200m to find a path on the right that will take us gradually uphill under the walls to cross the Bco Llidoners (the escape) and from here to the PR.
4.- Combine with Racons, when we finish it at its confluence with Infern, we will continue until we reach the path of the steps where we will go up to Fleix next to the Salt (we can also dare to do it).
