Résumé: (traduction alternative)
Beautiful vegetated and water-bearing canyon; first part open, second part cut; escape possibilities in the first part or before the 30m final waterfall on the left; belays are already a bit older but sufficient; longer car overpass; beautiful cavities, sintering and stalactites in the second part; cold water; large catchment catchment area.

Hydrologie:

Accès: (traduction alternative)
From Podgorica heading north (Kolašin) along the Morača. Immediately after the 9th tunnel (9th tunnel = very short), park the shuttle car on the right at the detour at km 1012. Drive a short distance north with the 2nd car. After the village sign for Trmanje directly after the bridge, turn left into the small, inconspicuous exit. Follow the narrow mountain road for 5 km. Then turn left onto a forest road (ground clearance for cars!). Follow the forest road keeping right until you reach an open area (small wooden hut).

Approche: (traduction alternative)
From the parking lot, follow the forest road back briefly and continue downhill to the stream. From here, follow the path/stream to the left. After crossing the stream several times, you will come to an old overgrown mill house at approx. 350m. This is also the entry point.

Tour: (traduction alternative)
The Bogutovski Potok is a beautiful canyon rich in vegetation with mostly shorter abseils. The first part is still open. A few steps can be downclimbed or bypassed here. After the first higher, approx. 25m abseil, you can already see into a deep canyon. This is where the most beautiful part of the canyoning tour begins. Several short abseiling points with small possible jumps lead through the gorge, which is partly decorated with sintering. Shortly before the bridge at approx. 170m, you can leave the canyon to the left or opt for the last and highest approx. 30m rappel in the watercourse below the bridge. The last rappel exits in the Morača at approx. 120m.

Retour: (traduction alternative)
First exit option: get off to the left before the bridge at approx. 170m.
Second exit option: after the 30m rappel at approx. 120m, follow the river on the right-hand side for approx. 100m. Here a small, inconspicuous steep path leads directly up to the road (tunnel with km. limit). You will soon be at the exit parking lot.

There are two possible exits… use the coordinates provided here, or let yourself drift a few meters down the channel and climb out at a ledge where the down car was previously parked. Be sure to memorize the ledge well or mark it with a rope, and swim to the orographic right due to the current. Drifting is worth it, but be careful when getting swept down in a right-hand bend. You'll come back up, but you'll definitely spend some time underwater and be at the mercy of the currents. You can swim around the inside of the bend. (traduction alternative)

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Bogutovski Needs a shuttle. The approach path is very overgrown. Equipment was fine. Best parts of the canyon are near the bottom. To exit, float down the river to the first flat land on river right. Follow blue dots to a steep climb up that leads to a steep path to the road. If the canyon is running high, the river may be too high to exit. In that case there is an exit on canyon left at the road bridge. The first third is a struggle, 1h walk in the almost dry stream bed, luckily not that overgrown as expected. Beware of snakes, there were a lot, some looking wicked. The second third is a nice, shady forest, but still dry. Then comes the canyon, cold water enters suddenly, even some - literally - cool jumps are possible. Here you definitely need the wetsuite. The travertine formations are amazing. Exit option before the last 2 rappels (at the bridge) is quite obvious. If done till the Moraca a bit of free climb is required (15-20m, easy). However, the rating here is misleading: no V4 but V2 instead (all rappels are simple). And we spent 4h the canyon, with decent pace, can't imagine that in the stated 2:30h.

The upper parking lot is where the zig-zag slope starts (the beginning would still be rideable up to the 1st hairpin, but not after that). At the last hairpin before the stream, be sure to turn left down the slope. Then you can follow a small path, sometimes left, sometimes right, which is already somewhat overgrown and thorny (wear neoprene at the bottom), until you prefer to walk along the stream rather than continue through the undergrowth (45 minutes from the road). You have to be patient, because the canyon only becomes beautiful where it is cut deep, but then it is very beautiful until the end. (traduction alternative)
