Sintesi: (traduzione alternativa) Very beautiful rappel canyon with 2 high abseiling points of approx. 50m; very beautiful panorama; swimming possibility at the Mondsee after the tour; only recommended with small groups and sufficient abseiling experience; exit/entry possible in the middle section; limestone.
Idrologia:
Accesso: (traduzione alternativa) approx. 15min From Mondsee take the main road (Romantikstraße) in the direction of St. Gilgen. After the village of Scharfling, turn left towards Unterach. After the tunnel, there is limited parking on the right next to the road or gravel parking in the forest.
Avvicinamento: (traduzione alternativa) approx. 50min From the parking lot, follow the hiking trail signposted Eisenau --> you will soon reach the final abseil (check water level) --> continue uphill and cross the stream after approx. 15min (exit/entry point) --> continue uphill here, past the water fountain and a wooden hut to reach the forest road with a fork --> follow the forest road to the right --> at the point where the forest road makes a slight left bend, leave it to the right and continue downhill along the inconspicuous forest path to the stream.
Giro: (traduzione alternativa) approx. 3h After a short stretch in the streambed comes a dilapidated wooden bridge --> then follows a short narrow section with small washouts --> after a short stretch with downclimb passages the canyon opens --> here you have a beautiful view of Lake Mondsee --> over well placed belays it goes over 3. downclimbs from 5m to 20m to the first large 50m waterfall --> to get to the exposed belay on the right should be built for safety's sake a removable rope traverse!> The 50m abseil is only up to the sharp edge in the water, after that you are in the overhang--> Alternatively you can abseil to the left outside the waterfall (intermediate level after approx.20m+30m) --> after the beautiful 50m-waterfall the next steps on the left can be bypassed --> after that there are short rappels which are mostly bypassed --> after further short mostly unproblematic rappels one crosses the hiking trail which one went up before (exit possibility) --> after the hiking trail there are five approx. 20m rappelling routes which follow each other shortly (downclimbing not advisable because mostly very slippery) --> to get to the exposed and mostly very slippery belaystation of the 50m final waterfall a removable rope traverse should be installed again --> the rappelling route looks from above mostly more spectacular than it is, because at the beginning of the rappelling routes you are again briefly in the water flow. (Alternatively, this abseil point can also be divided approx. 20m+30m).

A lot has changed here in the last year - some of the wood has disappeared for the better and it's no longer slippery. Yes, there are still enough old anchors from the DIY store Stand 16 (the third from the top) here we have placed a new one on the right 2m above the "ancient chain stand". If you don't want it, you can still use the old DIY store ring on the left. The intermediate stand on the first high one looks good - but we didn't use it - we went down through it The last high one now has a tree in it - obviously it's holding well, we didn't want to shake it as there are often tourists at the bottom. The old intermediate stand is no longer recommended; there's a new one to the left of it (at least I've never noticed it before) - but unfortunately it's just another DIY store set. Otherwise sunshine and great weather (traduzione alternativa)

Stands all in order. Some slightly bent hooks but nothing serious. Now super grippy although every pool is completely blocked. (traduzione alternativa)

Canyon has only been provisionally rehabilitated by me after extreme flooding. Partly only one bolt as a stand - not recommended for guiding or groups! The canyon is practically wood-free, very much gravel and rockfall endangered! (traduzione alternativa)

Canyon has had a serious flood. Unsure of conditions of anchors. Recommend to take equipment for re-equipping, or wait until the canyon is checked.

Great canyon. Some of the stands/drill hooks are a little loose, but all in all it's still passable without any problems. There is a lot of wood in the water, especially in the lower section. (traduzione alternativa)

Some clogging has occurred over the winter, but nothing dramatic. The anchor on the C50 is a little rusty, but is still holding. (traduzione alternativa)

Always beautiful and usually still easy to walk when the water level in the area is high. The prohibition signs at the passage next to the hotel are new. Everything was fine in the canyon (we only hiked the upper part) (traduzione alternativa)

Anchors, pretty good for around here. A few single hangers and a few interesting old pieces of bent rio-bar glued in! Easy walk up, stunning views, but the abseils are slippery as and not even one could be jumped.

Low water level, after rappel no. 5 there is a large rock in the pool. If someone wants to jump here, extreme caution is advised. Hooks are all slightly rusty. At the upper 50m rappel, the "sharp edge" is not in the water, but orographically to the left in the dry. No problem when pulling off, but next time I would take a rope protector with me, as the knot was easily damaged on the sheath when pulling off. At the lower 50m rappel there is an intermediate stand in the water. Anchors are bent or were not used by me. At rappel no. 16 there is an obstruction, with an anchor on the left side, see photo. Due to the melting snow, the water level was higher than normal, or rather path slightly higher during our descent. So it was a great spring water level for us which posed no problems. Stands ok, some could be renewed. All in all, a great tour with superiore views of the Mondsee. (traduzione alternativa)

All stands are ok so far. On the first part of the way up there are still trees and at the top where you leave the forest road there is still a massive wind throw that makes the path difficult to recognize. (traduzione alternativa)
