Specialità:

Attrezzatura:

Sintesi:
An open ravine with multiple terraces and/or ledges, featuring four very attractive enclosed sections (tuff, travertine, early stages of flagstone formations, etc.), with pools that are neither deep nor pose any danger. No chaotic sections and the ground is very flat. Escape routes are available throughout the entire ravine. Some abseils can be climbed down.

Idrologia:

Accesso:
We have to head to the charming village of Bergua, right in the heart of Sobrepuerto, which we'll reach via a track – parts of which are tarmacked – that starts from Fiscal

Avvicinamento:
We'll cross the village towards the footbridges signposted 'los Barrancos' (PR117); we'll reach the footbridges over the Forcos ravine, which we'll cross, and then take the path that climbs up on the left-hand side of the valley, following the PR to Escartín. From the village of Escartín, head up towards the Serrato del Grijal (the upper part of the fields visible to the right of the village), where you'll find a wall and some ancient ruins at a crossroads. We'll take the path that descends – sometimes hidden by low scrub – cross a tributary (possible entry point) and continue until we reach the ravine bed. OPTION: Direct entry to the flooded section. If you wish to avoid the initial section of the ravine – which is open and of less interest – enter via a path that starts at a bend in the PR117 before reaching the village of Escartín. At a very sharp bend to the left, marked by an angled PR sign (with a cairn), a path branches off; it is easy to follow for about 20 metres to a viewpoint and then continues along the curve of the hillside without losing altitude. From the viewpoint, the path (unmarked) is quite overgrown in places. This track, gaining a little in altitude, leads us to a disused cobbled track. Following this, we'll come to a landslide blocking the path, which we'll bypass, then climb again to rejoin the track leading down to the riverbed, leaving us near the start of abseil 4.

Ritorno:
At the end of abseil 14, we'll see a clearly marked path on the left that leads us straight to the Forcos footbridges.

Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Bergazo Pour la marche d'approche qui nous a pris deux heures, on a certainement quitté le chemin de rando un poil trop tôt (un cairn nous a trompé dans les virages en S le long du mur en pierre vers 1200m d'altitude). Nous sommes passés au pied d'une petite falaise sur une sente à animaux puis rejoins plus loin, plus en amont et tant bien que mal un bon chemin. Une trace existe sur la cartographie des Fenix de Garmin.Pour la descente, un petit filet d'eau coule, juste de quoi limiter le croupissement des quelques vasques encore en eau. Automatisch importiert von Descente-Canyon.com für Canyon Bergazo Celui qui a fait la fiche à fumé. C est pas 1h mais 2h pour aller au départ.La vague sente est une abomination (ou alors celle sur les cartes espagnoles n est pas la bonne). Prenez un pantalon si vous voulez pas vous défoncés les jambes dans les piquants).Équipements ok. C est mignon mais .. heureusement qu'il y a forcos à faire dans la foulée (Quelle: https://www.descente-canyon.com/canyoning/canyon-debit/24149/observations.html)
