Sintesi: (traduzione alternativa)
A short but very beautiful narrow gorge with stunning, eroded pools.
The Taugl is one of the oldest and longest canyons in Austria that are accessible on foot; the section below the gorge is also navigable by kayak in the spring. After the gorge, there is an optional, beautiful—but also very long—river walk to the Römerbrücke (approx. 7 km/5 hours to the alternative exit of the canyon; shuttle car required).

Idrologia: (traduzione alternativa)
Large watershed; usually too much water in the spring and after rain!

Accesso: (traduzione alternativa)
From Hallein toward Bad Vigaun, then continue on to St. Koloman. From there, follow Tiefenbachstraße and Sommeraustraße until you reach Tauglbodenstraße. Near the entry, there is a parking bay with space for 1–2 cars.

If there’s no space here, you can also park 150 meters before this spot or 600 meters after it (at https://maps.app.goo.gl/DM42UEfxxeJBs5A58).
If you want to hike the entire Tauglklamm gorge, you’ll need a shuttle car at the Römerbrücke.

Avvicinamento: (traduzione alternativa)
Descend from the parking lot to the gorge (yellow trail markers labeled "Tauglklamm"). Just above the small bridge, you'll find a tree with a fixed rope leading down into the canyon (as of 2026).

Giro: (traduzione alternativa)
After the fixed rope at the entry, no rope is needed (as of 2026). This is followed by a very beautiful, approximately 20-meter-long section of the canyon carved into smooth, polished limestone, with several small spots for jumping and slides. Fixed ropes are also installed in some places.
Shortly after the narrowest point, the canyon opens up. Here, you can exit to the left (end of the canyon) or continue the long river walk to the Roman Bridge (alternative exit from the canyon).

(There is also a variant that involves entering via the Gmainbach tributary to the Taugl, featuring several short rappels of 5–10 meters and the Gmainbach waterfall, which is approximately 40 meters high.)

Ritorno: (traduzione alternativa)
Exit on the orographic left immediately after the gorge: follow a forest trail past the small bridge and up to the parking lot.
For the longer routes, the exit is directly below the Roman Bridge (on the orographic left, steeply up to the parking lot).

We removed the fixed rope because of a tear in the sheath! Everything else was great. (traduzione alternativa)

A very beautiful but extremely short hike. We did two laps. The fixed rope at the starting waterfall is still in good condition. Everything in the gorge was clean and provided good footing. Warm water. After the hike, we went down into the Davidgraben (Urbangraben on OSM)—photogenic red rock. (traduzione alternativa)

Everything in the 2nd canyon after the Fischbach; we only did the Engklamm, driving there and back in just under 20 minutes. The scenery is scenic; the fixed rope at the entry is still there, and the rest can be climbed by jumping. (traduzione alternativa)

A beautiful, short canyon with jumps and a slide. The fixed rope is still hanging from the tree. (traduzione alternativa)

Roadworks are currently underway there. You can get through to the gravel parking lot; the two parking spaces at the sign may be too narrow for construction vehicles. There is currently a fixed rope at the entry, all other steps have been jumped or downclimbed by us. In the last pool there is a tree trunk in the jumping area (could not be removed). All in all, a very nice enclosed canyon. (traduzione alternativa)

As always short and very beautiful gorge, most take the dry variant from the tree sling org. left anyway and pick up the rappel on the way back, so the boron hook has become superfluous (info for gorge). (traduzione alternativa)

The double bolts at the start on the left side are missing hangers!! They are just naked bolts in the rock. We rapped off of a sling around a tree (which we later retrived). The canyon itself is comparable to the polished sandstone walls we are familiar with in Aus. Quite deeply cut, super cool smooth rolling lips for the water features and deep pools to jump into. Very very worthwhile just to check it out. We only did the primary constriction, and then walked back up to the car. The grade feels a little soft, and I think it could pretty easily get A3.
